Biology of cell and human genetics

Biology of cell and human genetics is a 2 semester compulsory course, carrying 8 ECTS points. It is organized in form of lectures and exercise classes in fall and spring semester. In fall semester students are attending Biology of cell classes according to the course syllabus, and in spring semester courses of human genetics.

After lectures and exercise classes are over, per semester, students will have test and colloquium (Test I and colloquium I in January, and Test II and colloquium II in June). Test I and II are carrying total number of 25 points each. Colloquium I carries 10 points, and colloquium II 15 points in total. In order to calculate points to the sum of total grade, students must earn at least 51% of the total number of points (if test I is 25 points, students must earn at least 13, etc).

After both semesters are over, for each examination term students must apply via online e-system at least 48 hours before exam. Examination term is composed of practical exam which carries 21 point (in order to pass, students must earn at least 13), and final exam which carries 50 points.

If students have enough points from test I, colloquium I, test II, colloquium II and practical exam (which is at least 51 points in total- equivalent to grade 6,) or students have more than 51 points, no final exam is required!

If student earns less than 51 point during the semesters and practical exam, final exam is mandatory.

Attendance

Students should be present at the lectures and exercise classes during both semester. If students have more than 2 absences per semester for practical classes, compensations are mandatory and are held in the form of colloquiums. More than 40% of absences, students do not have right for signature and must retake a course. Professor's signature in index is mandatory for each semester, since it represents one of the qualifications required for students to attend the examination terms.

Practical exercises

For practical classes each student must have a white coat, A4 format notebook with no lines, pencil, wooden paint pencils and calculator. If student does not have the necessary equipment, the presence will be assigned as not attended
